

FULL TO THE BRIM THE WISEST MEN

- 1 There are too many people here in Bethlehem,
There are too many people in town.
We're full to the brim,
We can't let you in,
You may as well give up and turn around!

CHORUS *But there's a census, a Roman census,
They're counting us and taking our names.
There's a census, a Roman census,
Tomorrow will be more of the same.*

- 2 The people are pouring in from everywhere,
They're on donkeys, on camels and foot.
Can't hear myself think,
There's no time to blink,
And every inn around is fully booked!

CHORUS *But there's a census, a Roman census,
They're counting us and taking our names.
There's a census, a Roman census,
Tomorrow will be more of the same.
There's a census, a Roman census,
They're counting us and taking our names.
There's a census, a Roman census,
Tomorrow will be more of the same.*

CHORUS *We're the wisest men that you'll ever meet,
Oozing wisdom from our head to our feet.
There's not a question we can't answer for you
And lots of lovely ladies say we're handsome too!*

All

- 1 They're authorities on ancient history
And know the capital of every country.
Maths and physics, easy for them,
They know it all and so much more!

CHORUS

All

- 2 They are experts on the stars and planets,
Decipher codes and study soil mechanics.
Languages are easy for them,
They know it all and so much more!

LAST CHORUS

All

*They're the wisest men that you'll ever meet,
Oozing wisdom from their head to their feet.
There's not a question they can't answer for you
And lots of lovely ladies say they're handsome too!*

THAT FIRST CHRISTMAS NIGHT

- 1 On that first Christmas night,
What a beautiful sight,
Lord Jesus, a King born in a cattle stall.
In the sky shone a star,
Bringing kings from afar
To Jesus, a Saviour born for one and all.

Group 2 (echoes & harmony)

*Celebrate and sing,
Sing it loudly,
Christmas news,
Let's shout, shout, shout it out!
Celebrate and sing,
Let's rejoice, the good news
Of the Saviour King.*
